

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION ACTION UPDATE NOVEMBER 2023

Building on our last published review on 17.09.22 and minuted meeting on 7.12.22, much diversity and inclusion work has continued behind the scenes.

During this time, we have been meeting, reviewing and working towards our agreed goals.

Since this meeting, some of our completed targets include (but are not limited to):

- Conversations continually being built around diversity.
- Audits of representative displays around the school are frequently discussed with children and actions taken where required.
- Elliott from Transparent Youth Project, Beresford from Rice and Peas and Tigger Pritchard have all been in school delivering training to staff and children on their topics of Gender, Race, and Neurodiversity.
- Our Free To Be Me Day 2023 was well received and we are building towards next year's. The end goal will always remain that such occasions are not needed yet, as long as we are working towards greater social equity, we will promote and celebrate our differences.
- If reading our newsletters, you may be aware of assemblies we have had about topics such as Race, religion, disabilities and neurodivergence.
